Objective structured practical examination (OSPE) assessments have been a core element of assessment in clinical courses for many years. They enable assessment of theoretical, practical, and problem-solving skills at multiple stations. OSPE is a new assessment tool used in a few medical colleges to standardize the format of OSPE. The university authorities should accommodate the views of faculty and students regarding OSPE, which will help the process to evolve. OSPE is a method of practical examination assessment tool subjects and materials are used instead of patients. The objective structured practical examination OSPE format is used during practical examinations as part of the physiotherapy undergraduate curriculum at the University of Frankfurt am Main. The objective of the present study was to know the perceptions of students regarding objective structured practical examination (OSPE) as a tool for assessment in forensic medicine. A problem-based learning (PBL) curriculum requires students to be able to integrate basic and clinical sciences. Assessment of anatomical understanding in PBL requires several types of examinations. Objective assessment for practical skills in medical education needs improvement from subjective methods to objective ones. An objective structured practical examination OSPE has been considered as one such method. The study is an attempt to evaluate the feasibility of using OSPE as a tool for the formative assessment of undergraduate medical education in pharmacology. Examination OSPE is the analogue of the objective structured clinical examination OSCE in evaluation of practical perspective objectives of the present study are to determine the accuracy, efficacy, practicality, and prospect of an assessment tool in practical examination. Fifty-seven students strongly agreed that the questions on OSPE were clear. Fifty-six students strongly agreed that bias is eliminated and fifty-seven felt that the time given to complete the objective structured practical examination OSPE and viva voce supported the performance of students. The performance of students as well as their opinion about the assessment tools is dissimilar.
