Reproductive system objectives:

1. Identify the individual organs of the male reproductive system and state the specific roles.
2. Illustrate the homologue in the male.

Male reproductive organs:

- The main reproductive organs of the male body are the testes, which produce sperm and male hormones in the form of testosterone.
- Assume a couple has just consummated the sex act and the male's sperm have been deposited in the woman's vagina. Trace the pathway of the sperm through the female reproductive tract:
  - The sperm would travel from the vagina to the cervix to the uterus to the fallopian tube.
- Anatomy of the male reproductive system:
  - Major organs: external reproductive organs (penis and scrotum) and internal organs (testes, epididymus).
  - The testes are enclosed by a white fibrous capsule and are divided into several hundred lobules divided by septa.

Female reproductive system:

- The female reproductive system contains two main parts: the uterus, which hosts the developing fetus and produces vaginal and uterine secretions, and the fallopian tubes and vagina.

Reproductive system terminology and study tools:

- Learn vocabulary terms and more with flashcards, games, and other study tools.
